

Boston, December 1855.

The time of holding the Annual Bazaar in behalf of the American Antislavery Society draws near. It is to open in this city on Wednesday Dec. 19th, and ~~to~~^{will} continue to the end of the month. The antislavery ladies in and about Boston, and in various parts of the country, have long been engaged in their preparations. And I am happy to inform you, that the prospects of with regard to our annual donations from friends abroad was never brighter. Already cases of such donations ~~have been~~ ~~received~~ from Edinburgh, Perth, Glasgow, Dublin, Liverpool, Bristol, Bridgwater, Manchester, Bury, ^{& Leeds} have come to hand; and boxes from ~~Leeds~~ other places are known to be on the way. Besides the above, five or six cases from our friends in Paris & other parts of France have safely arrived. You will readily perceive, therefore, that ^{our ladies} ~~we~~ are well-prepared to open a large and (doubtless) elegant ^{very handsome} Bazaar, and that we may entertain strong hopes of a large addition to the treasury of the American Antislavery Society;

the Society "without concealment, and without compromise."
You will doubtless hear from some of your Boston friends the result of the Bazaar.
